

TRANSFORM BROCHURE

A Leadership and Transformation Learning Initiative on building and managing social protection floors (SP) in Africa.

What is TRANSFORM?

Building and managing social protection floors (SP) in Africa.

TRANSFORM is an innovative learning initiative on the implementation of national social protection floors in Africa. Social protection floors are nationally defined sets of basic social security guarantees which secure protection aimed at preventing or alleviating poverty, vulnerability and social exclusion. TRANSFORM promotes critical thinking and builds capacity at national and subnational levels to improve the design, effectiveness and efficiency of social protection systems. It focuses on non-contributory social protection schemes and programmes.

Key to TRANSFORM is the creation of a movement of skilled social protection leaders in Africa to support transformational change utilising state-of-the-art knowledge through internationally informed and locally relevant materials. By supporting the creation and management of nationally defined SP floors which provide minimum social protection guarantees against poverty, vulnerability and social exclusion, the TRANSFORM initiative is aligned to the 2030 Leave No One Behind Agenda and specifically contributes to the achievement of SDG 1 and its target 1.3 in Africa.

Key to TRANSFORM is the creation of a movement of skilled social protection leaders in Africa

Distinctive features include:

- A strong regional orientation: TRANSFORM was developed by African and Africa-based experts to respond to the specific challenges and opportunities of building national social protection floors in Africa.
- Promotion of regional training and facilitation expertise in social protection through the development of a pool of accredited TRANSFORM Master Trainers
- A unique pedagogical approach, with cutting-edge technical content focusing on leadership and transformation.
- A curriculum that is adaptable to context-specific circumstances and needs and that is freely accessible as a public good.
- Focused on filling the “implementation gap”, by providing technical guidance to social protection practitioners engaged in the administration and governance of social protection programmes .
- Guided by an Advisory Group of like-minded partner agencies committed to social protection system strengthening in Africa, provides strategic guidance to the TRANSFORM initiative.

Why TRANSFORM?

Many training courses exist in the field of social protection and fundamental theories, concepts, approaches and techniques are accessible. However, the complexity of developing a broad, encompassing and functional social protection system remains a challenge for the relevant institutions. Thus, a transformational approach to teaching and knowledge sharing is required to bridge the gap between theory and implementation. TRANSFORM empowers learners to handle the complexities of their own social protection systems, appreciate diversity and uniqueness, own and implement creative solutions suitable for their contexts. All these elements are as important as the technical knowledge itself.

THE KNOWLEDGE FOUNDATION

TRANSFORM was developed primarily by African experts, to address the specific challenges of building and managing social protection floors in Africa. The Initiative aims at periodic joint development and updating of the materials with officials from the region, recognizing the importance of strengthening local expertise.

The learning package builds on a set of foundational texts – the “Base Documents” – that ensure a technically solid curriculum and are consolidated through a thorough peer-review and quality assurance process. The “Base Documents” back up the training activities and provide learners with sound technical reference at every stage of the learning process. The format of training modules supports the application in country while reducing costs. It includes a complete kit for trainers and participants, including facilitators’ and activities guides, scenarios and case studies, presentation slides with notes and handouts for participants.

THE TRANSFORM MASTER TRAINERS

By fostering linkages with regional and national social protection institutions and research centres, the TRANSFORM initiative has supported throughout the years the creation of a roster of regional trainers – the TRANSFORM “Master Trainers”.

The Master Trainers are accredited through the TRANSFORM Initiative. They constitute a select group of experts eligible for direct or fast-track contracting by regional stakeholders to deliver TRANSFORM trainings. Together with the curriculum and its pedagogical approach, Master Trainers are a key component of the TRANSFORM initiative and play an important role in its promotion and development. They contribute to seek out opportunities for applications in their own countries and support the periodic review and update of materials.

As of January 2020, 56 social protection experts from 29 African countries have become TRANSFORM Master Trainers. They include a new cohort of 12 French and Arabic speakers, who recently completed the Training of Trainers (ToT), the first step towards full accreditation to deliver the TRANSFORM curriculum in their respective languages.

THE PEDAGOGICAL APPROACH

TRANSFORM's action-based and experiential teaching methodology is centred on the promotion of change and transformation. It offers state of the art knowledge on social protection relevant to African countries within the working environment of participants. Recognising that knowledge is already in the room, TRANSFORM seeks to highlight that knowledge in a structured manner. This constitutes the first step in the participants' leadership journey, outlined through their personal commitments to establish change in their social protection programmes following the training.

The TRANSFORM methodology is built on four principles:

1. Dialogue: Dialogue is a fundamental mode and superior tool of transformational work. The key to effective, engaging and sustainable transformation is to create a safe space for diverse people to learn on a peer-to-peer basis, define purpose and intention, co-create visions and jointly decide on action.
2. Divergence-Emergence-Convergence: The basic pattern of an effective, engaging and sustainable transformation process follows this formula, translatable into three phases: stirring discomfort through some form of learning, co-creating a shared vision and identifying first steps to initiate change.
3. Understanding Complexity: A complex reality cannot be understood from a single (or a few) perspectives nor through mere analysis by single actors. It is necessary to bring the whole system into one room and emulate complex interactions in order to discern complex patterns.
4. Dynamic Interactions: The basic pattern of engaging a diverse group is to organize conversations in small clusters to explore knowledge and resources and discovering meaning.

A MODULAR APPROACH

The TRANSFORM learning package is organized in 8 modules, reflecting the building blocks of an integrated social protection system.

- 1. Legal Framework (LEG): Outlines the steps involved in constructing a human rights-based legal framework for non-contributory social protection and identifies some of its key elements, including the protection of beneficiaries' entitlements and accountability mechanisms
- 2. Selection & Identification (S&I): Analyses contemporary and historical evidence on the design and implementation choices made by high, low and middle-income countries for the selection and identification of social protection beneficiaries.
- 3. Administration (ADM): Explores the key components of non-contributory social protection programmes' administrative processes (such as payment systems, enrolment and registration, etc.). It also provides an overview of implementation constraints and design options for administrative systems, according to available resources and capacities.
- 4. Coordination (COO): Discusses the concepts of coordination and integration at policy, programme and administrative level within the social protection floor approach. It analyses the need for coordination both within the social protection system and with other public policy sectors, to better tackle the complex and multi-dimensional poverty experienced by beneficiaries throughout their lifecycles.
- 5. Governance (GOV): Reviews the importance of management and support functions for the delivery of social protection programmes. It provides an overview of the various institutional frameworks and organisational models (centralized, decentralized, etc) for the provision of social protection and the key steps for setting and monitoring performance standards.
- 6. Management Information Systems & Approaches to Data Integration (MIS): Illustrates the increasingly pivotal role of MIS and integrated systems for information management in the implementation of social protection programmes and presents the key steps to design and implement appropriate MIS solutions in any given context.
- 7. Financing & Financial Management (FIN): Introduces critical aspects of financial governance and administration of non-contributory social protection, including revenue mobilization, the national budget process, concepts of financial management, and public expenditure monitoring and evaluation.
- 8. Monitoring & Evaluation (M&E): Outlines the process of development and implementation of a sound M&E system that can assist social protection policy design, planning and programme management, and contribute to strengthening transparency and accountability.

DELIVERY MODALITIES

TRANSFORM is primarily developed for in-person short training and can be tailored to specific contexts and needs. It is also applicable at both national and sub-national levels. The learning package is organized in a modular structure that reflects the key building blocks of a holistic and coherent social protection system. The 8 modules provide an overview of systemic thinking in the design and implementation of SP floors and can be explored individually. TRANSFORM is available online and the development of a blended learning format of online and on-site training is in progress.

TRANSFORM is currently available in three different modalities

1. Full introductory package: All modules are presented in a compressed format for a 5-day training and available in English, Portuguese, French and Arabic.
2. In-Depth package: Each module takes 3 days to complete. This package aims to deepen understanding on topics or building blocks. The following modules are available for in-depth training:
 - Monitoring & Evaluation
 - Selection and Identification
 - Management Information Systems and
 - Governance and Coordination.
 - Financing and Financial Management (forthcoming).
3. E-Transform: is the on-line TRANSFORM training package hosted on the www.socialprotection.org platform. The course is held throughout 10 weeks and covers the full introductory curriculum through TRANSFORM e-facilitators.

TAILORED VERSIONS OF THE TRANSFORM INTRODUCTORY CURRICULUM

Throughout the years, different applications of the TRANSFORM introductory curriculum have been developed, adapting its modular approach to various contexts and needs. The curriculum is available in English, French, Portuguese and Arabic. The District Introductory Package is currently undergoing translation in Swahili. The TRANSFORM introductory curriculum includes the following versions:

- District-level Application – A 5-day curriculum covering all modules, with a specific focus on implementation issues at local/decentralized levels.
- Policy Makers Application – A 2-day compressed curriculum targeted at high-level decision -makers. This application provides a broad understanding of the needs for designing, developing and strengthening a comprehensive and inclusive social protection system, and key advocacy messages on how TRANSFORM can be a valuable tool in building a national social protection floor.

The Shock Responsive Social Protection (SRSP) 3-day Module: This newest addition to the TRANSFORM curriculum aims to support social protection and humanitarian stakeholders to address the increased needs and pressures on social protection systems imposed by covariate shocks, through enhanced coordination and tailored programming. The module outlines a new strategic framework for cooperation across sectors in shock-prone contexts, inclusive of analytical tools and practical guidance to set out shock-responsive measures along each of the eight social protection building blocks.

TARGET GROUPS

TRANSFORM targets social protection practitioners seeking to enrich their knowledge base and embark on a leadership and transformation process. Specifically, TRANSFORM is targeted at African government officials, at national and sub-national levels (e.g. provincial, district), who engage with social protection policy and programme oversight, formulation and implementation.

The package mainly aims at the following “user groups”:

1. Policy makers – responsible for political decision-making;
2. Senior technical advisors - responsible for strategic level planning and programming; and
3. Mid-/Lower technical officers – responsible for the delivery of SP programs and services.

HISTORY & GOVERNANCE

TRANSFORM was developed since 2015 with financial and technical support from Irish Aid and the European Union Social Protection Systems Programme (EU-SPS), particularly the Government of Finland.

In 2016, the AU officially recommended the training package be made available to all African countries, thus furthering its development and promotion. African social protection experts and Africa-based officials of the International Labour Organisation (ILO), United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) collaborated to the creation of the TRANSFORM curriculum, with technical support from Ingenious Peoples Knowledge (IPK).

Training applications, curriculum development and review continue to be supported primarily through country level technical and financial assistance of partner agencies that include the ILO, UNDP, UNICEF, World Food Programme (WFP) and donors, including the Foreign, Commonwealth & Development Office (FCDO), Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ), beside different multi-donor funding arrangements. TRANSFORM online and face-to-face applications continue to be delivered in partnership with socialprotection.org (IPC-IG) and Learn to Lead.

ADVISORY GROUP

Since 2016, an Advisory Group has overseen the technical development and promoted the implementation of the TRANSFORM initiative across Africa. The TRANSFORM Advisory Group operates in the spirit of fostering collective ownership and contribution over a learning package envisioned as "public good" for social protection stakeholders in Africa and beyond. The core principles underlying the joint development of the TRANSFORM initiative and participation in its Advisory Group include the alignment to the system strengthening approach to social protection, including social protection floors in line with SDG 1.3.

As of January 2021, the Advisory Group members include:

- Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO)
- Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung (FES)
- International Labour Organisation (ILO)
- International Policy Centre for Inclusive Growth (IPC-IG),
- Irish Aid
- International Training Centre of the International Labour Organization (ITC-ILO)
- Southern Africa Social Protection Experts Network (SASPEN)
- United Nations Development Programme (UNDP)
- United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF)
- United Nations University - Maastricht Economic and Social Research Institute on Innovation and Technology (UNU-MERIT)
- World Food Programme (WFP)
- Representatives from the Master Trainers' group;
- Representatives from the European Commission's Directorate-General for International Cooperation and Development (EC-DEVCO) and the Government of Finland.

COORDINATION HUB

The TRANSFORM Coordination Hub provides secretariat functions to the Advisory Group and is responsible for the management and coordination of the initiative in Africa. The Hub, currently based at ILO Lusaka, is responsible for the review and update of the curriculum, training and accreditation of Master Trainers, provision of technical support to country teams for application and the progressive integration of the curriculum in national and regional institutions.

SUSTAINABILITY AND PARTNERSHIPS

TRANSFORM continues to pursue a sustainability strategy through fostering partnerships at national, regional and global levels. Institutional partnerships and progressive alignment with relevant capacity development initiatives in the region are critical to ensure the sustainability and impact of the TRANSFORM initiative. Some key initiatives with both academia and Government institutions in the region include:

- In collaboration with the EU-Social Protection Systems Programme (EU-SPS), the Coordination Hub contributed technical to the integration of the TRANSFORM learning package into the Master of Arts in Social Protection, launched in 2021 by the University of Zambia (UNZA).
- The TRANSFORM Coordination Hub has initiated collaboration for the progressive integration of the Curriculum within regional and national academic and Government-supported training centres in Malawi and Kenya.
- Since 2020, the School of Social Work in Ghana included TRANSFORM in the review and update process of its in-service social protection course.
- In 2019 the Government of Malawi, with support from ILO, GIZ and UNICEF, developed a national strategy for the rollout of TRANSFORM across all districts of the country. Similarly, in 2020 the Government of Zambia embarked on a strategic planning exercise.
- TRANSFORM will also be part of the social protection capacity development strategy for Tanzania and Zanzibar, to be undertaken jointly by ILO and UNICEF in 2021.

The TRANSFORM initiative continues to benefit from the existing synergies with regional professional networks such as the Southern Africa Social Protection Experts Network (SASPEN), with several Master Trainers being members. Building on the first cohort of Arabic and French-speaking Master Trainers, UN agencies in the respective regions have taken steps to kick start the application and adaptation of the TRANSFORM curriculum to their respective contexts in West and Northern Africa, and in the Middle East region.

At global level, TRANSFORM has contributed to the review and consolidation of several capacity development programmes and tools created by partner institutions. TRANSFORM has contributed to learning initiatives promoted by the International Training Centre of the International Labour Organization (ITCILO) in Italy (recently the “E-coaching on Social Protection: Towards Responsive Systems”), and is a long-standing partner of the inter-agency Socialprotection.org platform, where E-Transform features amongst the most on-demand online courses on social protection. In 2020 TRANSFORM joined the online community of practice on Social Protection in Crisis Contexts and contributed to the review of the Institute of Development Studies (IDS) recently launched online course “Social Protection- A primer”.
